

I'm not a robot

According to the Mayo Clinic, about 1 in 4 American adults experience lower back pain. So it's not surprising that back pain is the most common chronic condition in the U.S. ... Etheredge Chiropractic of The Villages At the time of production, approximately 500 Americans had lost their life to fungal meningitis, tied to tainted steroid injections ... A recent study released by the American Journal of Epidemiology states that people who are overweight and obese have higher rates of back pain ... Tristan Schaub, CEO of chiropractorresults.com, discusses the top-ranked Two longtime Lake County practitioners are now working together to provide a broader scope of services to patients at If technology is one of your holiday gifts, whether it be a computer, a hand held game or a digital book reader, paying particular attention to the elderly is a good idea ... Nearly half the American population over the age of 18, about 48 percent, are affected by musculoskeletal conditions like arthritis, osteoarthritis, and osteoporosis ...