

I'm not a robot

TPWD said the gators are between one and four feet in length and pose no threat to public The department says the three-foot long