

I'm not a robot

More alligators are turning to ponds and canals to survive, a Southwest Florida animal behaviorist says. Ranger Rob believes this is a ... State and local authorities are investigating a fish kill reported on Tuesday, April 13 in the Cross Hill area of Alligators thrive in several U.S. states, with warm wetlands, swamps, and marshes creating the perfect environment. From the ...