

I'm not a robot

The Translation Slam puts different translations of the same text side by side and invites the translators, authors, and audience. ... Tara Westover discussed her masterful memoir "Educated", and the price she paid for creating it, with celebrated author of ... The standards of journalistic objectivity remain hotly contested by readers, prominent media figures, and writers attached to ... 2016 PEN World Voices Festival: Say It Loud! Stories from New York's Worker-Writers ... The Struggle For Human Rights, as the opening event at the For imprisoned people, the reimagining of one's sense of self, experience of and contribution to the Poetic language reaches from metaphor to insurgency in these stories about Journalists fight against the propagation of fake news while being accused of it themselves every day. Media luminaries Yamiche ... An audience of readers, activists, writers, intellectuals, and lovers of the written word gathered to kick off the 2014 Expressions of love between a mother and child can take the form of a drawing on the refrigerator, a surprise kiss in the morning, ...